Section 1: Introduction

1.1 Purpose and Organization of this Guidance to Agencies

The Ka'ū Community Development Plan (CDP) Guidance to Agencies is a quick-reference guide for County, State, federal, and private agencies. It is one of several CDP Support Documents designed to make the Ka'ū CDP accessible to the diversity of its future users. The CDP strategies included in this Guide are identical to the strategies in the CDP, but they are re-organized for easy reference by agencies.

This Guide is organized into four substantive sections: Section 2: County Agencies, Section 3: State Agencies, Section 4: Federal Agencies, and Section 5: Private Organizations.

There are two types of references in parentheses at the end of CDP strategies included in this Guide. The first are references to existing policy in, for example, the General Plan or Hawai'i Revised Statutes. The second is to the section of the CDP where guidance to non-County agencies can be found.

1.2 What is a CDP, and what can it do?

"CDP" is short for "Community Development Plan." CDPs are the forum for community input into establishing Hawai'i County policy at the regional level and coordinating the delivery of County services to the community.

The Ka'ū CDP employs four types of strategies to achieve Community Objectives: two types of County policy, an advocacy platform aimed at non-County agencies and organizations that could help advance implementation of the CDP, and community-based, collaborative action.

The County policies articulated in the CDP are established with the adoption of the Ka'ū CDP. The two types of County policies in the CDP are "Land Use Policies" and "County Actions."

"County Actions" are the official County policies to guide future County priorities and initiatives related to land and open space protection, water, roads, transit, emergency services, and parks. These policies are not mandated, legally-binding, or self-implementing; rather, they often require additional legislative and administrative directives before being implemented (e.g., land acquisition, operating budgets, capital improvement appropriations, code changes, incentive measures).

"Advocacy" items in the CDP guide the policy and actions of State and federal agencies, whose work impacts resource protections, public access and trails, settlement patterns, and education. It is assumed that the CDP Action Committee, County agencies, and County, State, and federal elected officials will collaborate to encourage agencies and other organizations to advance these CDP strategies.

This Guide is focused on "County Actions" and "Advocacy" items in the CDP.

For more information about the purpose and scope of the Ka'ū CDP, see Appendix V1 and Section 2 of the CDP.

1.3 Relationship of CDPs to the General Plan

County of Hawai'i Community Development Plans (CDPs) implement but do not supersede the General Plan. In the case of conflicts between a CDP and the General Plan, the General Plan prevails. In order to bring the Ka'ū CDP and the General Plan into alignment, the CDP recommends specific amendments to the General Plan (see Policies 15, 16, and 101).

1.4 Ka'ū CDP Planning Area

The Ka'ū CDP planning area includes most of Judicial District 9 in the County of Hawai'i. Eastern portions of the district near and including Volcano Village were included in the Puna CDP planning area and were therefore not incorporated into the Ka'ū CDP (see Figure 1 in the CDP).

1.5 How does the Ka'ū CDP strengthen Ka'ū?

Complete, sustainable, vibrant communities do three fundamental things. First, they protect the public trust – the natural and cultural resources that are fundamental to community character and a strong community and local economy. Second, they provide public facilities and services to residents and businesses. And third, they grow local businesses that provide goods, services, and jobs. The Ka'ū Community Development Plan serves as a road map to achieve those three ends.

First, strategies in Section 4 of the CDP focus on protecting and enhancing Ka'ū's rich heritage of natural and cultural resources, including coastal areas, agricultural land, mauka forests, scenic resources, ecosystems, historic and cultural features, and public access and trails. Four basic approaches are used: land preservation, land use policy protections, governmental initiative, and collaborative action by landowners, nonprofits, and the community.

Second, Section 5 prioritizes improvements in water systems, roads, mass transit, emergency and health services and facilities, waste management, education, and parks. These improvements will require County, State, and community leadership.

Third, the Ka'ū CDP supports economic development in three ways. First, it establishes firm foundations for growth through the protections and improvements in Sections 4 and 5 and by providing room for development in Section 3. Second, the CDP outlines strategic steps to seize sector-specific market opportunities. Third, the CDP provides a road map to guide coordinated, community-led economic development strategies.

The Land Use Policies in Section 3 of the CDP tie the environmental, infrastructure, and economic elements of the CDP together by clearly segregating protected areas (coastal areas and mauka forests), agricultural land, and settled areas.

1.6 Where did the Ka'ū CDP come from?

The Ka'ū CDP was developed in three stages, which are described in Appendix V2 of the CDP. Each stage was driven by extensive community input and concluded with a clear decision by the CDP Steering Committee, the volunteer advisory committee charged with recommending a CDP to the County.

During the first stage, community members identified core community values and a vision of what they'd like to see in Ka'ū in 2030, as summarized in Sections 1.2.4 and 1.4.1 of the CDP. At the end of that stage, the Steering Committee affirmed a Values and Visions Statement that has since served as a compass point guiding the planning process.

Next, a detailed profile of the community (Appendix V3) was developed based on community knowledge and expertise as well as existing data, reports, and studies. Section 1.3 of the CDP summarizes the community assets and challenges identified in the profile. That stage concluded when the Steering Committee integrated the Values and Vision Statement with the Community Profile to develop the twelve Community Objectives that the CDP is designed to achieve (listed in Section 1.5.1 of the CDP).

In the third stage, extensive research was conducted to identify the range of strategies that could be used to achieve those objectives. From those strategies, a combination of policies and actions was identified that, when implemented together, will realize the community’s vision for the future. Those strategies were compiled into the preliminary “working draft” of the CDP. The Ka’ū CDP Steering Committee reviewed that draft, discussed it, and made recommendations for revisions.

Next, the broader community and stakeholders had the same opportunity, and the Steering Committee used that input to make further revisions before it was satisfied that the CDP truly reflects community preferences.

1.7 How were CDP strategies identified?

The Community Objectives are the foundation of the CDP. All of the CDP strategies are designed to implement one or more of the objectives. Appendix V2 explains the process followed to identify strategies to achieve Community Objectives.

To make that process as transparent as possible, supplements to Appendices V4A, VB, and VC include a “strategy identification matrix” that was developed using (and makes specific references to) the comprehensive content included in that appendix. The matrix summarizes current policies and action that are aligned with community objectives, remaining policy and action gaps, and the new policy, advocacy, and community-based, collaborative action needed to achieve community objectives.

In addition, Appendix V5 includes summaries of the rationale behind each of the CDP policies and advocacy strategies. Each rationale is based on the process represented in the corresponding strategy identification matrix. To keep the CDP as concise as possible, only limited information from the appendix is repeated, though references direct the interested reader to relevant sections of the analysis.
